Women in Aviation Australia Scholarship Q&A

Our 2020 Scholarship Program is now in full swing. We now have just under $30,000 worth of scholarships to award to our members. Here is what you need to know.

So, who can apply?

Any WAI Australia current Financial Members (this includes any new financial member between now and the application closing date).

Each scholarship has slightly different eligibility and/or suitability for the application requirements, so you will have to check each application form.

Are the scholarships just for aspiring pilots?

No, some scholarships such as the Tristar Aviation and Panorama Airways Scholarships are suited specifically to someone either pursuing or looking to advance their career as a pilot, whereas the ASASI scholarship is geared towards applicants who are either qualified or interested in aviation safety and the CO Gear and WAI scholarship is aimed towards anyone in aviation who is required to wear safety boots and cargo's as part of their job - which, is likely to be an engineer or ground operations staff.

The Australian Chapter and the Australian Aviation Museum scholarships are an open application to financially assist with the cost of aviation related training towards any commendable aviation endeavour. This could include an aircraft maintenance engineer (AME) working towards becoming a licensed aircraft maintenance engineer (LAME), a pilot wanting to take the next step to become a flight instructor or someone working towards an aviation management or aviation safety qualification and, of course every aviation career in between

When do applications close?

All applications close August 21st, 2020.

You still have plenty of time, but do not leave it too late!

Should you fear the application form?

Absolutely not! Applying for a scholarship may seem like a daunting process but, we promise we have made it as enjoyable as we can - for the most part we just want to know about you and your goals.

If you have any concerns you can reach out to the Katrina our Scholarships Coordinator. scholarships@waiaustralia.org
